GVP Pet Toothbrushes enable you to brush your pet's teeth at home, aiding in the prevention of bad breath and tooth decay in your pet. Brush daily for best results. Do not use human toothpaste.

The Double-Ended Toothbrush is for traditional toothbrushing of cats, small dogs and larger dogs.

Regular brushing of a pet's teeth with a suitable toothpaste designed for animals helps to keep your pet's breath fresh, reduces plaque and maintains healthy teeth and gums.

This toothbrush features different sized brush heads (One on each end), making it suitable for cats and dogs of all sizes.

Angled bristles make it easy for you to reach teeth at the back of the mouth, where the majority of plaque build-up can occur.

INTRODUCING YOUR PET TO TEETH BRUSHING

- Cats and small dogs may feel more comfortable if they can sit on their owners lap while having their teeth brushed.
- Begin slowly, initial sessions should be brief, a minute or two and well rewarded.
- Get your pet used to the toothbrush by dipping it in tuna juice, chicken or beef stock or just use water.
- Next try offering the toothbrush with the paste, without brushing. Allow your pet to taste the paste.
- When your pet is comfortable with the brush try brushing one or two strokes on a few teeth. Slowly increase the amount of brushing as your pet becomes more comfortable.
- Start at the front of the mouth. Pets are often more accepting of this.
